We Do IT.

Value and Excellence in IT

The new economy that has created today's globalised world is one based on knowledge and its most valuable resource: INFORMATION. Consequently, for a company or organisation to be able to develop and become competitive domestically and internationally it needs technological tools that enable it to manage and transmit large amounts of information as quickly as possible.

SOLTIMEX is a company specialising in IT, which offers products and services of the highest quality and value to ensure your company or organisation is endowed with the latest systems, technology, and tools, as well as the advice it needs to enable it to become stronger and grow.

Founded in 2009 for the purpose of providing comprehensive IT solutions, SOLTIMEX has since consolidated its position as a company recognised both nationally and internationally as one which—with a focus on innovation—offers excellent products and services, professional care, and value, as well as a strong sense of commitment to our customers and corporate ethics.

As strategic allies of your company or organisation, SOLTIMEX's specialists analyse your real IT needs to enable us to design a specialised proposal that will help you increase your operational efficiency, improve your products and the quality of your services, and become competitive in the global market.

Our SOLTIMEX team is comprised of highly qualified and trained IT experts. We are also certified by various organisations and have entered business alliances with major market brands, which, along with our extensive catalog of products and services, enables us to bring you the latest in technology.

At SOLTIMEX, we provide full and comprehensive support, including analysing and diagnosing your company or organisation's IT requirements, designing and implementing the right IT project for you, and advising and training your staff, which we do through our three divisions:

- IT Infrastructure Division
- IT Consulting and Advisory Division
- IT Training Division

IT Infrastructure Division

At SOLTIMEX, we provide specialised IT infrastructure services and solutions to companies and organisations.

We can help you develop your IT strategy and accompany you throughout the process of implementing the solution required. Our experienced, highly trained team of engineers will support you in the design and creation of a practical, sustainable, and cost-effective IT infrastructure for your company or organisation.

With their extensive experience in the industry, our skilled engineers are able to provide you with an endless array of specialised services, addressing needs such as network design and security, information security, infrastructure optimisation or upgrading, data centres, communications, and so on, so as to ensure that your investment in technology meets your needs and provides tangible benefits.

In terms of IT infrastructure, SOLTIMEX offers:

- Data Center
- Logical and Physical Security
- Communications
- Virtualisation
- Structured Cabling (Copper and Fiber Optic)
- Computer Networks
- Storage and Backup
- Operational Continuity and Disaster Recovery

IT Consulting and Advisory Division

At SOLTIMEX, we offer companies and organisations consulting and advisory services specialising in strategic and complex Information Technology (IT) projects. We also advise on and provide support in managing projects involving the development and implementation of new products or services or improving existing ones, using the Lean or DFSS Six Sigma methodologies.

SOLTIMEX's Consulting Division focuses on providing advice on analysing and understanding the strategic needs, objectives, and requirements of companies and organisations in order to be able to help our customers meet their business goals or resolve issues. Our work in this process is carried out according to the best practices and standards of methodologies such as: Project Management, developed by PMI® (the Project Management Institute), Six Sigma (Lean & DFSS), and ITIL (Information Technology Infrastructure Library).

Our specialist IT consultants have over 20 years' experience and are certified in one or more methodologies and good practices, which means they can provide strategic advice on technology and IT infrastructure needs, process improvements, strategic plans, Project Management, and plans for achieving greater quality and efficiency in IT operations.

At SOLTIMEX, we provide advice on:

- Project Management
- Project Management Office (PMO)
- Information Technology Infrastructure Library (ITIL)
- Six Sigma Lean /DFSS
- Disaster Recovery Plan (DRP)
- Virtualisation Technologies
- Microsoft Technologies
- Data Center
- Cisco Technology.
- Communication and networking
- Storage and Backup

IT Training Division

At SOLTIMEX, we provide IT training programs designed to ensure companies and organisations have staff capable of dealing with all aspects of their technology equipment.

We provide highly regarded courses on Information Technology, and the most important and relevant methodologies and best practices in today's IT market, as well as on IT project management, quality management and efficiency management in IT operations.

At SOLTIMEX, we firmly believe that the main resource of any company or organisation is its work team, so if it hopes to ever be competitive at home and abroad, it is not enough to simply buy high-tech equipment and software. It is essential that their personnel know how to use these technological tools, for which training is fundamental.

training

Everyone knows that investing in high-level training boosts a company or organisation's growth and that of its staff, generating numerous benefits that develop into a virtuous circle since it not only helps form a team capable of using Information Technology to its best effect, but also helps in the personal development of the team members. This in turn sparks a genuine commitment on their part to the success of the organisation or company.

Building upon the excellence for which we are known, SOLTIMEX offers over 60 courses and has partnered with a series of international organisations whose accreditation serves as evidence of our compliance with their standards of quality education. Our training is a strategic tool with which to provide your staff with the knowledge and skills they require in their daily work. That is why we offer the most cost-effective IT courses, which we do by:

- Scheduling the courses according to your preferred dates and times, i.e., to suit you
- Teaching the courses either at your facilities or ours, whichever you prefer
- Providing telephone or e-mail support after completion of the course
- Having certified facilitators give the courses
- Developing the course content to match your needs by including real case studies
- Providing one-to-one training aimed specifically at busy executives and professionals that need to learn about their own specific IT infrastructure environment.
